UN Nearing Adjournment

Unanimous Approval Indicated for Plan On Outer Space

United Nations, N. Y. — Pressing toward adjournment, the U. N. is expected to give unanimous approval today to a Soviet-American plan to give the world body a voice in regulating peaceful uses of outer space.

A parade of nations from both sides of the iron curtain hailed east-west agreement on the controversial space issue in a lengthy night session.

The 82-nation political committee was slated to act next in a morning session.

The general assembly then must ratify the plan before it winds up its business for the year—probably late tonight.

The United States and the Soviet Union urged unanimous approval of the proposal, which they worked out after three weeks of closed door haggling.

Negotiations between U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov were kept under a lid of secrecy until the agreement actually was reached.

After several concessions by the west, the two agreed on a committee composed of 12 western, 7 communist and 5 neutral nations.

Jet Bomber Hits New Speed Mark

Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. — An F105 Thunderchief fighter-bomber has surpassed the world speed record for a closed course several times in the last few days, the air force said Friday.

The existing record of 1,100.426 miles per hour on the 100-kilometer course is held by the French air force.

The new mark was not announced, pending confirmation by the National Aeronautics association.

Club Comes to Rescue

Mother and 2 Girls Lived in Automobile

Detroit — The Grosse Pointe Crisis club has come to the aid of a young mother and her two small daughters who have been living in an automobile.

The plight of Mrs. Delores Louise Zamojcin, 30, was disclosed Thursday night when she was arrested in suburban Grosse Pointe Shores for speeding.

Police forgot about ticketing her for speeding after she explained, "the car heater doesn't work well when driving slow. We were headed for Belle Isle to park and sleep overnight and we wanted it warm."

Gets Job Offer

Police gave Mrs. Zamojcin and her daughters, Adele, 7, and Carren, 6, temporary shelter. For the last five months they had been living in the car most of the time.

Then yesterday the Grosse Pointe Crisis club went into action. It is made up of business and professional men organized to meet just such emergencies.

Overdue rent that caused Mrs. Zamojcin's eviction was paid. So was the $25 due a boarding home which held the children's clothing. Groceries were provided.

Offers of help also came from other sources. One was a job for the mother as a housekeeper and baby-sitter.

Police Chief Fred Duemling of Grosse Pointe Shores questioned Mrs. Zamojcin. He said he learned:

She was born in Grand Rapids, Mich., and her maiden name was Delores Louise Stud. She was placed in an orphanage as a child. When she became 21 she came to Detroit, supporting herself primarily by working as a domestic servant.

Then she was married to a construction worker. They were divorced four years ago. He failed to keep up support payments and she lost track of him. She and the daughters lived with relatives and friends "until we wore out our welcome." She tried supporting the children by working as a waitress, baby-sitter, housemaid and theater usher.

Muscat's Minister Hurt By Assassin's Bomb

Bahrain, Persian Gulf — Sayed Ahmed Bin Ibrahim, Muscat's interior minister, suffered severe shock and burns in a bombing assassination attempt at sea Friday.

The bomb exploded beneath the bed of the minister aboard a ship, the British-India steam navigation line's 4,850-ton liner Swarka.

Raid Black Magic Group

Swiss Police Break Up Cult Ruled by Hypnotism, Torture

BY MICHAEL GOLDSMITH Bern — A black magic cult whose disciples were reported ruled by hypnotism and torture behind electrified barbed wire has been broken up by Swiss police raiders.

Paul Baumann, 42, former patient in a mental home, is under arrest as the mastermind on charges ranging from interference with personal freedom to embezzlement.

Police Commissioner Ernst Spoerri gave these details at a news conference last night.

The raid was made last week on the fenced secluded Friedberg estate at Linden, a village 12 miles south of Bern.

68 Inmates

Inside, raiding officers found 68 men, women and children in various stages of hypnotic trance.

One of the men, completely hypnotized, was hanging up the George Krepline farm side down from chains in an underground torture chamber.

All of the disciples were in a state of fear and submission when smoke filled the home early Friday.

The group, made up of Swiss and Germans, included children, ranging in age from a 15-year-old girl and Baumann's wife, 25.

Several had to be transferred to mental homes for psychiatric treatment.

The estate comprised five houses, a chapel with an altar dedicated to magic spirits, a movie theater and mechanical workshops.

New disciples, found by personal contact, were taken to the estate and told they had been chosen by the spirits to join the community.

Had to Take Oath

They had to swear an oath of allegiance to the sect on an electrified book of magic which sent a heavy charge through their bodies.

Incoming disciples were required to turn over all their cash and belongings to Baumann. The officers found a small fortune in cash and valuables.

'Liberation Army' Reported to be Invading Paraguay

President Stroessner Calls Out Reserves, Agency Says

Buenos Aires — Units of a "liberation army" consisting of Paraguayans living abroad were reported today to have invaded Paraguay from Argentine and Brazilian border points.

The Argentine news agency Saporiti said the government of strong man President Alfredo Stroessner immediately mobilized reserves and took other emergency measures to counter the threat. Saporiti said the invasion at dawn was in seven columns.

Led by Students

Clandestine radios in missions province of northern Argentina reported the liberation army was led by Juan Jose Rotella, 26, and Mario Steche, both identified as Paraguayan students.

Despite the reports of revolt in various Paraguayan cities, Argentine airlines said flights to the capital of Asuncion were normal.

A correspondent at Asuncion reported by telephone to Buenos Aires that all appeared quiet in the Paraguayan capital.

The call placed here was put through immediately.

The Asuncion report conflicted with information being broadcast by Buenos Aires radio stations, which said uprisings had occurred in Asuncion, Villarica and Concepcion.

Information from the northern Argentine cities of Posadas and Clorinda said disturbances broke out in the three Paraguayan cities at the moment rebel forces started their invasion.

Stroessner, a veteran artillery officer, worked his way up to general and took over as president in 1954 after a coup.

A state of siege (modified martial law) has been in force in the country, on and off, for the last 15 years, because of economic and other pressures.

Nelson Plans To Tour State

Wants Voters to Know About GOP 'Obstructionism'

Madison — Democratic Gov. Gaylord Nelson plans to start stumping the state early next year to tell Wisconsin voters about "Republican obstructionism" to his program.

The chief executive said at a news conference late Friday that he probably would start late in January or early February on visits to communities throughout the state to discuss his program.

He said he would spend "a week here and a week there" when time permitted.

Republicans have said that they would follow the governor on his trips with "truth teams" that would answer charges made by Nelson.

Rockefeller Won't Talk to Solons

Madison — Republican Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York said Friday night he would be unable to address the Wisconsin legislature Tuesday.

A tight schedule during his visit to Wisconsin will prevent him from accepting the invitation extended by lawmakers, the Wisconsin State Journal quoted Rockefeller as saying in a telephone conversation from Albany, N.Y.

Plans call for Rockefeller's arrival in Madison at 8:30 a.m. and departure at 11 a.m. for Milwaukee.

Nelson also said at his conference that he "resented" Republican barbs thrown recently at two new department appointees.

"Republican senators spent most of one legislative day attacking Joe E. Nussbaum, commissioner of the department of administration, and David Carley, director of the department of resource development," the governor said.

"I expect criticism myself," Nelson added. "I am an elected official. I do not expect that men who are merely doing their best in administrative jobs should be ridiculed just because I appointed them. Such attacks only discourage good men from joining state service."

The Nussbaum and Carley appointments have been waiting senate confirmation since early November.

Herter Leaves For Strategy Talks in Paris

Washington — Sec. of State Christian A. Herter took off today for western strategy talks in Paris. He declared there is need for further improvement of the defensive strength of the North Atlantic alliance.

Traveling in a military air transport jet liner, Herter, Sec. of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson and Sec. of Defense Thomas S. Gates, Jr., left from Andrews Air Force base.

Their big jet plane took off in a drizzling rain at 8:15 a.m. for an estimated 7-hour flight to Paris.

Council to Meet

They were accompanied by a party of top aides and policy advisers, including Foy D. Kohler, assistant secretary of state for European affairs, and Charles E. Bohlen, Herter's new special adviser on Soviet relations.

Herter, Anderson and Gates will represent the United States in a cabinet level meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty council in Paris beginning next Tuesday. Herter is expected to make a drive for greater contributions by the main European allies, particularly West Germany and France, to the military strength of NATO and Europe.

President Eisenhower Chats with Mira Rao, 14-year-old daughter of the vice chancellor of Delhi university, Friday. The U. S. chief executive received an honorary degree of doctor of laws at the school.

Scrap Vega Moon Probe

Washington — In a move that will cost $17 million, the government has scrapped the $65 million Vega moon rocket. It hopes to get better reliability with another rocket now on the drawing board.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Friday the abandonment of the Vega program may delay some of its deep space probes by three to six months.

Albert Lea Tranquil

BY SHERMAN A. LINDELL Albert Lea, Minn. — The pattern of community life has altered little in this southern Minnesota city as the result of martial law imposed to prevent further violence in a meat packing plant strike.

Anyone expecting dramatic changes, was disappointed.

Presence of Troopers Ease Tension in City

There haven't been any, aside from an obvious easing of tensions built up by striker-company friction.

Few guardsmen were to be seen around the city, population 18,000, except in restaurants at mealtime.

The rifles carried at all times by national guard troops appeared curiously alien propped against chairs in the eating houses. So did the battle dress uniforms.

Take Over City

A random sampling of guardsmen finds many college and high school students from Mankato and Rochester, the home towns of the two units sent here to maintain peace.

In the officers' cadre, there are a University of Minnesota teacher, a school superintendent, a car salesman and a research director for a large Minneapolis concern.

The troops came at the order of Gov. Orville Freeman, who acted to avert further violence in a strike of some 1,000 United Packinghouse union members against the city's biggest industry, the Wilson & Company packing plant.

The governor moved swiftly after the second day of violent demonstrations against non-union workers hired by Wilson.

Entire World Interested In Visit, Indian Premier Says at News Session

BY HENRY S. BRADSHAW

New Delhi — (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru today hailed President Eisenhower's 11-nation good-will tour as a "pilgrimage of peace" carrying a worldwide impact.

The prime minister said he welcomed Eisenhower's visit "at this particular juncture of world events, Asian events and Indian events."

Nehru spoke at an impromptu news conference during an inspection of the sprawling press headquarters set up by the Indian government for coverage of the president's stay here.

"This visit is news for the entire world and it is right that its significance is recognized everywhere," Nehru said.

He told newsmen that the president's stay "is important news in view of this—if I may use the word—pilgrimage in quest of peace."

"While many things have been discussed and have happened here," he said, "everything has been in the context of peace, cooperation and freedom."

Urges Law on Drug Prices

Kefauver Says Quiz Shows Need for Federal Legislation

Washington — Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) of the senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee said today an investigation of drug prices already has shown a need for federal legislation.

He made the comment to newsmen as E. G. Upjohn, president of the Upjohn company of Kalamazoo, Mich., was called for questioning about his firm's pricing of anti-arthritis drugs.

The Upjohn company was listed by the subcommittee as one of the three principal manufacturers of cortisone derivatives used in treating persons afflicted with arthritis.

New Hearings Planned

Officials of the other two drug firms, Schering corporation and Merck & Company, were heard earlier in the week.

Kefauver said Upjohn's testimony would close out the subcommittee's inquiry into the pricing of arthritis medicines. But another round of hearings, possibly dealing with the prices of antibiotics, is planned for late next month.

While Kefauver said the need for new legislation already is evident, he said it is too early to say what form it should take. Before deciding on that, he said, officials of the food and drug administration and other federal agencies will be consulted.

Surrounded by Newsmen

Nehru talked briefly with newsmen after sending a cable to telegraph offices in London and New York.

They had wired congratulations to the Indian government for the efficiency of special communications arrangements made for the president's visit.

"I am glad that the arrangements made here for transmission of messages covering President Eisenhower's memorable visit to India have been adequate and satisfactory," Nehru said in his cable.

Nehru toured the press center with a group of reporters

Eagle Seizes Dog But Drops Him in California Lake

Fresno, Calif. — An eagle flew off with a 3½ pound chihuahua yesterday, but dropped the dog in a lake and she was saved.

"There was poor Poco yelping and yapping as the eagle flew off with her," said Mrs. Harley Oremus of Fresno, who had been boating with her husband on nearby Millerton lake.

The eagle swooped down and grabbed the dog in its talons when it jumped ashore from the Oremus boat. The big bird landed on a hill to renew its grip but dropped Poco from a height of about 50 feet when it took off again over the lake.

Fished out, Poco was treated for talon wounds by a veterinarian.

Milwaukee Man Dies In Traffic Accident

Aloysius Smith, 51, of Milwaukee, died early today when struck by a trolley bus while crossing a south side street. Two policemen crawled under the bus to pull him out, but Smyk was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Dick Kesner Plays Real Stradivarius

Lawrence Welk Violinist Makes Constant Use of Instrument to Improve 'Combination'

BY JINGO
That's a real Stradivarius Dick Kesner plays Saturday nights on the Lawrence Welk show.
"I use it constantly," says Kesner, "because I feel that the more accustomed we become to each other, the better a musical combination we'll make."
"I don't believe in exhibition pieces, nor did I want a Stradivarius for show purposes. It's one of the most beautifully toned instruments I have ever heard and the instrument is a constant challenge to me to prove worthy of the tonal quality built into it by old Antonius. I believe he made his violins to be used and give musical joy to people. The least I can do is try to achieve his intention."
Kesner's violin, records indicate, was made in 1717 or a few years earlier, during the "choice" period in Stradivarius' career.

Jingo

Kesner scrimped and saved for many years before he found an available Stradivarius and had the money to afford it.

Nehru Calls Ike's Tour 'Pilgrimage of Peace'

of all nationalities crowding after him to catch his comments.

The Indian leader seemed pleased with the way things were going. Government officials said he was gratified by the spectacular welcome given by the Indian people and that the immense crowds that turned out for the president's arrival in New Delhi exceeded his fondest expectations.

Nehru and Eisenhower so far have held about three hours of private discussions in addition to contacts at public meetings, dinners and other events. They will meet several more times before the president leaves for Tehran Monday.

Informed sources reported they have discussed a wide range of subjects including India's border quarrel with red China. Nehru, they say, also has brought up the question of Washington's troubles in keeping western allies, particularly West Germany and France, from rocking the western boat in advance of the summit meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

The sources gave this assessment: Nehru's deep interest in the summit conference indicates that he sees a direct relationship between the problems of West Berlin and the open "new chapter in world history."

M. C. Chagla, Indian ambassador to the United States, reported Prime Minister Nehru estimated the crowds that welcomed Eisenhower here Wednesday at 2½ million — three times the size of New Delhi's reception for Nikita S. Khrushchev in 1955.

"It was the most sensational in history," the ambassador said.

The 2½ million figure is the biggest yet in estimates of the throngs which cheered, waved and crushed in upon the procession in which Eisenhower rode from the airport into New Delhi. Police had estimated 1½ million.

Chance for Rest

Eisenhower seized a chance today for his first real day of rest since the beginning of his good will tour of three continents nine days ago.

With only two formal functions on his schedule, he relaxed at the russet-colored mansion of India's President Rajendra Prasad and caught up on White House business. He is conducting 9,300 miles from Washington.

First was an afternoon reception in the garden of Prasad's mansion. About 8,000 guests were invited.

The only other event was a dinner at U. S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker's home, with Eisenhower as host and Nehru as the guest of honor.

The dinner will give Eisenhower and Nehru a chance to resume their talks dealing with India's border troubles with red China and the forthcoming east-west summit meeting.

Eisenhower, who is bearing up well under the strain of his gruelling trip, meets Nehru twice Sunday.

Ambassador Chagla said he results from the talks.

"Nobody expected that," he added. "But when two great men dedicated to world peace meet together this way they can do a great deal indeed to change the atmosphere."

"When the atmosphere changes, it is then that concrete and specific results can be expected."

Chagla flew to India from Washington in advance of Eisenhower to be on hand for his welcome. He said he plans to return to Washington Dec. 18 to help welcome Eisenhower home after the western summit conference in Paris.

Cigaret Taxes Begun By GOP 20 Years Ago, Boosted Often Since

First Levy 2 Cents, Now It's 7, Democrats Want Penny More

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison—Twenty years ago a Republican state administration, hunting for revenues to breach a prospective budget deficit, took a tip from other states and the federal government and enacted the first tax on cigars.

The first state levy was 2 cents a pack. Three times since that time the rate has been increased, and today a Democratic state administration, also anxious to tap new revenue sources, proposes a fourth increase to a total of 6 cents a package for the state treasury. The federal tax rate is 8 cents a package.

During the two decades of experience with the cigar tax there has sometimes been some grumbling about the fact that other tobacco users, as cigar smokers and pipe smokers, are not paying correspondingly for their pleasure. Today the state administration is making the first serious demand for the taxation of the other tobacco products, by way of a 15 per cent wholesale value tax on them.

The new penny impost on cigars is expected to yield about $4,155,000 a year. The wholesale tobacco levy about $1,500,000.

Smokers Pay

The tax on smoking is already admittedly heavy. The person who smokes a package of cigars daily is paying at the rate of about $47 a year in total cigar taxes. It is estimated that about 35 per cent of Wisconsin people smoke.

Gov. Nelson told the legislature that the cigar and tobacco tax, as he sees it, involves no moral issues. He evidently meant that the tax is not necessarily a hardship, because the consumer can avoid it if he chooses to do so by avoiding the use of tobacco products.

But there is a vigorous contrary view, expressed by the organized tobacco dealers of the state.

'Worst Possible' Tax

"The administration says it is opposed to a sales tax, yet here it proposes two of the worst possible types of sales taxes; taxes wholly out of

because of its similar fiscal difficulties.

Equalize Tax

The tobacco products tax intended to cover cigars, smoking and chewing tobacco and tobacco in any other form is intended to equalize the smoking tax, administration spokesmen say. They deny that such a levy will have any effect upon the Wisconsin tobacco growing industry.

But again there is a lively dissent. Growers organizations of northern and southern Wisconsin complained that any tax on tobacco products will be detrimental to their interests because most of the Wisconsin grown tobacco goes into other than cigar products. There is already a downward trend in cigar consumption and a penny increase in the price of cigars is bound to accelerate that declining curve, they maintain.

About 6,000 Wisconsin farmers grow some tobacco, making this state the largest producer of cigar binder material and one of the three largest producers in the country of cigar and smoking and chewing tobacco. Last year, the crop amounted to nearly 22,000,000 pounds, valued at $7,700,000. Legislatures in the past have declined to impose a tax on other than cigars because of the local producer's concern about tobacco marketing.

Over Other Taxes

Tobacco interests have also complained that the state tax is now far higher than the state tax on beer and liquor. "The beer tax has not been increased since 1931. The cigar tax has been increased 250 per cent since 1939," protested the institute.

An answer might be that Gov. Nelson earlier this year asked for an increase in the state tax on beer, and was beaten on the proposition in the legislature.

Administration backers also point to the fact that previous Republican regimes turned to the cigar tax as an easy producer when they wanted more money, and won their increase proposals with relatively little difficulty.

The increases voted during the last 10 years produced about $50,000,000 for the state treasury, the legislature has been reminded.

Ansious opposition to a further increase in the rate of cigar taxation comes from the vending machine operators, whose complications when prices change are considerable.

Two Crusaders Go Beyond the Truth

Two of New York's crusading newspaper reporters have been fired by the New York World-Telegram and Sun because they made and broadcast a false statement against a New York city official.

Fred Cook, 48, the writing member of the team and Gene Gleason, 32, the investigating half, got into trouble over a television broadcast in which they took part. The pair had worked together as an investigating team for their newspaper for several years. They had won a reputation for being hardnosed investigators and furthermore they had won New York Newspaper Guild awards for their work. Recently they had published in the magazine, The Nation, an article entitled "The Shame of New York." The article related to a New York slum clearance program and was quite sensational, enough so that it was made the subject of a panel discussion on a New York television station. It was on this program that Cook made the startling announcement that while he and Gleason had been investigating the slum clearance housing mess for their newspaper, a high city official had tried to bribe them.

Cook explained that the offer of a bribe had been made to Gleason but that Gleason had told him about it.

Weeks, of course, had gone by between the alleged time of the bribe offer and the report on television. As a result the editors of the World-Telegram and Sun wanted to know why they hadn't been informed of this offer.

Furthermore the district attorney saw something there to investigate. He called the two in and under questioning Gleason admitted that the charge was false and is quoted as saying he made the charge merely "because I was exuberant and carried away."

The Chicago Tribune sees in this incident further reason why there should be neither state nor federal laws exempting newspaper reporters from being forced to testify as to the sources of information they may have published. It may be noted that the two reporters, one of whom may have been acting innocently, had the people of New York by the ears with this sensational story which had no basis in fact. They were accusing an anonymous city official of having attempted to bribe them. While this may be a good reason for proposing such legislation, it is in fact not as directly on that point as it may appear.

The Post-Crescent did not favor such legislation when it was proposed in Wisconsin. Nevertheless it is important to notice that the false statement in this case was not published in the reporters' newspaper. If it had been, no doubt, the city editor or the editor would have demanded to know the name of the city official accused of offering the bribe. The secrecy of the source of such information does not extend to the relationship between reporter and editor. But even if it did, no newspaper conscious of its responsibilities would accept such a story without coming into full possession of the facts.

Once the name was known to the editor, it would be a comparatively simple matter to make a check on the facts of the case. Furthermore it may appear that in using this example against such proposed legislation, the protection offered to the confidences between lawyer and client and doctor and patient is permissible because the lawyers and the doctors are somehow more deserving of confidence than are newspaper reporters. That is, of course, not necessarily the fact. Many doctors and many lawyers in the past have betrayed such confidences but that has never been considered a reason for questioning the necessity for protecting the confidence between these professions and their clients. The chief difference between the legal and medical professions on the one hand and the journalism profession on the other, in this respect, is that the first two professions do not use the information they receive in confidence to influence the thinking of other people. Newspaper writers do use the information to influence the thinking of other people. They publish it and while it may be justifiable to publish such information anonymously, in general the people who read newspapers and magazines are entitled to know where the information comes from so they can evaluate it for themselves.

Further if such information is damaging to anyone and if there is some doubt as to the truth which cannot be proved or disproved without knowing the source of a statement, it is very difficult to justify protecting the author from revealing that source. Although, as we have said, this particular case is not exactly to the point we are quite sure that many people will be influenced by it and thus the time when such confidences will be protected in all states is farther away.

A Suggestion for Christmas Giving

There is still time for those who are so disposed to send a wonderful Christmas gift to a child in any one of the 15 countries in Asia, Europe, the Middle East and Latin America where foods are distributed by CARE. A CARE worker in Colombia, South America, noticed some of the youngsters at school putting half of their CARE rolls in their pockets and inquired why. One little boy explained, "This is for my brother, he's too young to come to school."

One dollar sent to CARE will send a wonderful gift of food to one or more of the hungry children known to CARE around the world. The CARE packages are made up of surplus farm commodities which are donated by the United States government. The dollar which is sent to CARE is used only to pay the transportation and thus it is possible for $1 to send a very generous parcel of food, and if you wish you can have your name and address on it as a personal act of sharing. CARE has a very appealing suggestion for Christmas giving.

People's Forum

Nelson Responsible for All State Operations

Editor, Post-Crescent: In a recent editorial, you suggest that Gov. Nelson should leave road planning entirely to the highway commission. Yet the governor is elected by the people every two years to direct all state operations. He would be remiss in his duties if he did not oversee the operations of the highway commission, which spends as much money as all other state agencies combined.

More than a year ago, Gov. Nelson expressed concern that completion of the interstate highway from Chicago to Duluth would result in many thousands of Illinois vacationers by-passing northern Wisconsin for Minnesota. He suggested that this could be avoided by building up our own highways branching off the "I" System into the northern part of the state.

He repeated this suggestion to Highway Commission Chairman Harold Plummer in November, 1958, and to Plummer and other state highway officials at a meeting in the governor's office last July. There was unanimous agreement that these branches off the interstate system should be emphasized so that they are ready for use by the time the "I" system is completed.

Commission Chairman Plummer has now written

What Others are Saying

Teachers, Students Seem To Fight Perpetual Battle

From The Report on Wis. State Colleges

Students have an "inability to read and understand simple English," and they "don't know a noun from a verb or a simple from a complex sentence."

Students "do not know how to write decimals nor how to operate with fractions."

Furthermore, the "quality of the boys physically does not seem to measure up to the standards . . . of the town boys of my boyhood."

Such statements are almost commonplace today as critics complain that present students fail to achieve virtually any of the standards of previous generations.

Old Complaints

But one wonders if such complaints aren't always present, since the above remarks were made in 1913 by college instructors about the quality of their students.

Out of 192 "normal school" — as the state colleges then were called — teachers replying to a survey on educational conditions, 123 found students ill-prepared in basic subjects taught in high schools. To this, principals and superintendents retorted

Gov. Nelson informing him that these key north-south routes were emphasized in planning the 1960 highway program. No one has suggested that there is "more north-south road building" planned in 1960, since this would be impossible in the face of a $40 million cutback in federal funds. But Plummer's letter did indicate that it was possible to emphasize north-south routes within the limits of the total highway funds that were available.

that poor preparation of students resulted from poor teaching by the normal school graduates — and the vicious circle persists today.

Discipline Problem

Teachers back in 1913 complained about poor student penmanship and worried about the writing of the future. They criticized the failure to read books and further contended that the students' preparation "seems to have given them the idea that all that is necessary is to learn a lesson by reading over the words and giving these words to the teacher."

Apparently discipline was not a sterling standard either, judging from complaints about the need for better order in the corridors and less noise in the assemblies. Some teachers insisted that the "use of tobacco on the grounds" should serve as justification for expulsion.

And, indicative of either poor conditions or student encroachments, another hoped for provision of a "men's rest room for members of the faculty," since "there is no common room where faculty men may meet for a conference."

Taj Mahal Deemed Monument To Love Story of Emperor

BY WATSON SIMS

Agra, India — On a warm day in October more than 150 special buses fanned out along the 120-mile highway from Delhi to this ancient city. Hundreds of automobiles jostled for high-way space with bullock carts and pedestrians. Special airline flights from Delhi buzzed overhead. Trains from the capital were jammed with more passengers.

By the time the full moon had risen above Agra's banyan trees, most of the passengers who came by bus, automobile, plane, train, bullock cart and foot had assembled in one throng.

Before them, soft in the moonlight, stood a building massive and yet so delicate that poets have called it a dream in marble. It was the Taj Mahal, a monument which annually delights more eyes and stirs more sighs than any building in India.

The impact of the Taj Mahal upon viewers is so great that an Englishman who stumbled across it more than 50 years ago declared the sight alone was worth a trip to India. Thousands of tourists have since confirmed his judgment, and tomorrow President Eisenhower will join those who have journeyed to Agra for a sight of this monument to a 300-year-old love story. Prime Minister Nehru is expected to be his guide.

On Marble Parapet

The building the president will see stands on a square marble parapet, raised 12 feet above a spacious garden of reflecting pools and flowering shrubs. Its frame is 186 feet on each side. The walls raise more than 100 feet and are capped by a dome which soars to 210 feet. Pencil slim minarets rise delicately at each corner of the parapet.

The structure is of pure white marble, inlaid with wreaths, scrolls and frets of bloodstones, agates and jasper. Thousands of verses from the Koran are graven into the walls in black stone.

How did one of the world's poorest countries come to have a monument which some experts believe cost more than $50 million even though built more than 300 years ago.

Some critics say the answer lies in the overwhelming self-esteem and ostentation of the Moghul emperors who ruled India nearly 200 years. But they are a minority. To most Indians the Taj Mahal is a monument to a great love story.

Title of Shah's Wife

Taj Mahal, in Urdu, means "crown of the palace." This was one of the titles of Mumtaz Mahal, wife of Shah Jahan, who ruled India, 1627-1658. Shah Jahan married Mumtaz when she was only 14, and the fierce emperor never took another wife. The beauty of Mumtaz and the love in which she was held became legend in her lifetime. She died at the birth of her fourteenth child, at the age of 31.

One year later, in 1632, Shah Jahan began work on a memorial he wished to endure for all time. When it was finished, 17 years later, the remains of Mumtaz were interred in the center of the parapet on which the building rests. The equivalent of "God" was inscribed in 1,000 ways on her jewel encrusted crypt and 600 holy men were sent daily to the monument to recite prayers for her soul.

The prayers did not continue long. Six years after the monument was finished, Shah Jahan's son, Aurangzeb, revolted and seized power. Shah Jahan was imprisoned until his death in 1666. Aurangzeb halted work on a "black Taj" which Shah Jahan had planned to build as his own mausoleum, directly across the Jumna river from the Taj Mahal. Shah Jahan was buried beside Mumtaz, and Aurangzeb shifted his capital to Delhi.

No Advantages From Second Budget Bill

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — Enactment by the legislature of the second budget bill of the year prompts the question:

What significant changes or benefits resulted from the division of the biennial budget of rule and tradition into two one year budgets under the auspices of the Democratic state administration?

There is a temptation to say that an old proverb has been proved, and that a mountain has brought forth a mouse.

For the additional labor and cost and struggle and trouble the new budget is strikingly similar in size, method and purpose to the first year's model.

Democrats on the floor of the legislature the other day tried as well as they could to show some of the changes that the additional time and money and work investment had wrought, but they didn't sound very convincing. The chances are that they didn't convince even themselves.

For the truth is that the division of the biennial budget was not offered for its own merits, but as a kind of window-dressing for a plan to postpone the tax levying decision until this fall session. Now the tax revision chore is being postponed again, the Democrats hope, and the idea of budget reform through the annual budget document has a sharply hollow ring.

SMALL CHANGE

Early last winter and last spring the administration talked about the challenge to audit expenditures and to review functions that could be met through allowing extra time for the consideration of the appropriations items for the second year of the biennium.

But there is very little in the record to show that such extra analysis, if in actuality it was provided, produced any significant consequences.

The new budget document is about $1,500,000 larger than the first year budget. While that amount cannot be laughed off, it amounts to only about one per cent of the total spending program for the year, hardly an appreciable change for all of the purported extra work.

Moreover, the difference is on the side of higher expenditures. By implication at least, the public had a right to expect from the speeches and the publicity earlier in the year that the additional scrutiny would bring about some reductions. If more thorough budget analysis is going to bring about higher spending as a rule, the body politic may wonder one of these days whether it can afford much more of that kind of efficiency.

The seasoned sideline is bound to have some doubts, moreover, about the value of expenditure auditing from inside the establishment. The statehouse now abounds with "analysts," young men who are doubtless competent in accounting and record keeping and related subjects. But are they qualified to judge the worth of spending items?

AN IDEA

A distinguished citizen of upper Wisconsin in a letter to the governor the other day — a copy of which was sent to this department — suggested the creation of a "blue ribbon" citizens commission to examine into the origin, purposes, results and worth of the steadily enlarging state services.

If the state can justify setting up an elaborate citizens commission to figure how to raise more tax money, perhaps it should also provide the machinery for the appraisal of the purposes for which the tax money is being spent, he thought.

Such a commission could be representative of the body politic, which the bright young men of the budget bureau are not. It would be impervious to the skilled and strenuous pressures applying, which the members of the legislature are not, he suggested further.

It is a provocative idea and doubtless worthy of serious consideration. It is so worthy, in fact, that it will doubtless be ignored.

Iron Works Planned for Kaukauna

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Dec. 11, 1880.

Just as we are about ready to go to press, we are informed that the Lake Shore Traffic Co. which organization is nearly identical with the Kaukauna Water Power Co., have decided to erect a complete series of iron works on the south side of Kaukauna.

They will consist of a blast furnace for the reduction of iron ore, a rolling mill for making railway iron, merchant iron, etc., and possibly a furnace for making steel by the Bessemer or Siemens process.

The works are to be located on the splendid new canal of the Water Power Co. and will be supplied with iron from it. The Milwaukee, Lake Shore and Western Railway will in the near future tap the great Penoka Iron Range in the northern part of the state and an abundance of the raw material will thus be accessible and can be cheaply handled,

One of America's Most Modern food analysis laboratories is the one shown above, used by the Wil-Kil Pest Control company, 637 W. Wisconsin avenue. Call Wil-Kil at RE 3-3582.

Wil-Kil Pest Control is one of three in the United States and the only exterminating firm in Wisconsin having sanitation survey and food microbiological laboratory service. Why microbiological research? Why quality control? Wil-Kil says because food is exposed to contamination by insects, rodents and filth from the fields to the pantry shelf. Laboratory testing of raw materials and finished products is essential to detect any avenue of contamination, prevent spoilage and to determine if the finished product conforms with commercial and legal requirements.

The food business is peculiar. Every time the public takes a bite of your product your business reputation is at stake, Wil-Kil says. Thousands of food processors and retailers in the U. S. consider Wil-Kil services important to protect their quality foods and business good will.

Christmas Trees in Every Home, Aim of Y's Men

Christmas trees in every home are almost as important as Santa Claus this season of the year and the Y's Men's club of Appleton are making it possible for you to have your choice of lovely fresh trees.

The trees are on sale at the Appleton Motor company's used cat lot at 1610 W. Wisconsin avenue. Each year a group of businesses and professional men turn to Christmas tree selling. They are all members of the Y's Men's club, a service organization for the YMCA. The proceeds are used directly to help the youth of our community, developing camp facilities, and sending needy children to camp.

This season the Y's Men have ordered more trees than ever before in various sizes and types — Norway pine, Scotch pine, balsams, double needle balsams and blue spruce. When the customer has selected a tree, he may have it sprayed in the color of his choice, if he wishes to do so.

All of the business transacted in the Y's Men's Christmas tree sale is done by the Y's Men themselves, including the lot set up, stacking and even electrical wiring for the night-time lighting. The amount of volunteer work insures the Y's Men a low overhead and operating cost. The Y's Men gratefully acknowledge the donation of this story by the Rector Motor company, 212 N. Division street, Appleton, local Oldsmobile distributor.

Centuries ago, in the Nile River Valley, the ancient Egyptians ground their own wheat into meal. Then they gathered rare spices, oil and honey, and tropical fruits, some of which they preserved by drying in the sun. These ingredients were mixed with spices and other aromatic substances for flavor and the Egyptians then formed the mixture into cakes. Cakes similar to these were found in Rome and early Spain. Today we call the finished product—fruit cakes. But the story does not stop there.

Each phase of history contributed a share in further developing the fruit cake. British sailors, years ago, returned from their travels in the Orient with stories of the wonderful cake made with fruit. They brought the ingredients home and secured currants and raisins from Greece and Turkey. They obtained citrus peel preserved in honey from Italy and almonds from Spain. Strange seeds and barks of trees found in the Orient were ground into spice. British bakers gained widespread fame because of their

Barbara Eisenhower Impresses Nations On Good-Will Tour

New Delhi —— Attractive Barbara Eisenhower has turned out to be a star attraction in each of the five nations visited thus far on President Eisenhower's good-will tour.

In the absence of Mamie Eisenhower, the president's wife, Barbara has been treated as the unofficial first lady even though she is not making the trip in that role.

Unaccustomed to so much limelight, Eisenhower's daughter-in-law has developed into an effective good-will ambassador with her wide-eyed approach and enthusiasm for the people and things around her.

The crowds that have turned out in Italy, Turkey, Pakistan, Afghanistan and India frequently craned their necks to see what Barbara looked like after catching a glimpse of the president himself.

Impressive Figure
Nearly always they are amazed at her height—she's 5-8. They also are impressed by the trim figure of this 33-year-old mother of four youngsters.

Barbara usually attends official dinners in simply styled evening gowns. She wore a royal blue outfit with a baby blue stole at a glittering New Delhi dinner Thursday night.

In Karachi she wore white. In Turkey she chose green and in Italy a champagne-colored number.

Barbara has yet to appear twice in the same daytime outfit. She favors two-piece suits which she tops off with a mink stole.

She finally managed to get some Christmas shopping done in New Delhi yesterday, picking out several presents for her children and friends.

She has attended a half dozen teas and luncheons given for her by wives of government leaders.

Went Sightseeing
In Rome, despite a heavy downpour, she and her husband, Maj. John Eisenhower, took an afternoon off to go sightseeing at the Vatican museum.

Barbara has carried off her role without a bobble even though she confessed yesterday she didn't know the meaning of the letters ICA when she met an American woman who announced her husband was an employee of that foreign aid agency. The letters stand for the International Cooperation administration.

The effect of all the attention showered on Barbara has been to push John into the background. But he has been busy serving as an aide to his father and doesn't seem to mind as long as his wife is having a good time.

Candy Tip
Worth knowing: When you use a candy thermometer, make absolutely sure that the bulb does not touch either the bottom or the side of the pan in which you are cooking the candy mixture.

On Wednesday, a serenade will be given by Delta Tau Delta and Kappa Delta, under the direction of David Jordan, West Allis, and Elizabeth Roberts, Bangor. Finale of the series before vacation will be the Phi Kappa Taus and Kappa Alpha Thetas, led by Stanley Smith, Fond du Lac, and Jill Grande, Park Ridge, Ill.

Informal parties are planned at the various fraternity houses after the serenades.

The North Shore Golf club's annual roast duck Christmas dinner was held Thursday evening. A caroling group, led by Miss Marguerite Schumann, and an instrumental trio provided the evening's program. Members of the trio are, from left, Mrs. Frederick Smith, Neenah, Mrs. John B. Menn and Mrs. F. Harwood Orbison, both of Appleton.

Members of Alpha Delta Pi and Sigma Phi Epsilon, directed by James Boettcher, 207 S. Meade street, and Carol Schwegler, Oconomowoc, will sing on campus on Monday, followed by Delta Gamma, Phi Delta Theta, Pi Beta Phi, and Phi Gamma Delta on Tuesday evening. Thomas A. Schulz, Wauwatosa, and Arlene Atwood, Skokie, Ill., are leading the first two, while the last two groups will be directed by Rodney Rahn, Wausau.

Tri-Y Clubs Work On Service Projects

Approximately 300 junior and senior high school girls are members of the 12 YMCA Tri-Y clubs which meet weekly at the Y. At present the girls are engaged in doing various service projects for the holidays.

The clubs have selected different names and some have little sister groups which take the same name. Each club elects two representatives to the Inter-club council which meets monthly and plans joint club projects. Mary Loker from the Juntas senior club is the president of the council.

The members of Tri-Y and Hi-Y are affiliated with the state and national YMCA.

Juntas senior Tri-Y club is headed by Peggy Jacob and includes 12th grade girls. The girls donated a Thanksgiving basket to a needy family and are planning a caroling party for Dec. 20.

The Pandora senior girls made a cartoon scrapbook for the children's ward at the hospital and presently are making doll clothes for the Y Pla-school nursery. Sue Hatch is president of the 11th grade group. Another 11th grade club the Cudo senior group, headed by Margo Taggart, is giving a Christmas basket to a needy family.

Other groups giving Christmas baskets are the S.H.Y., S.H.Y., Chico, Pandora juniors, Uplison, Shatze junior and the Cudo junior girls.

Church Women Entertain at Holiday Party

Mrs. Dennis Hamerski and Mrs. Melvin Nyma were hostesses and the program of songs should yield about three cups of the sliced fruit Pritzel, Mrs. Lynn Brash, after paring and removing the Mrs. Donald Streck and Mrs. William Alexander.

Spryo Gostas Named Head of Masonic Group

Spryo Gostas was elected excellent high priest of the Appleton chapter 47, Royal Arch Masons, at a supper meeting Thursday evening at the Masonic temple for members and their families.

Other officers elected were Randall T. Scholfield, king; Burton W. Tellock, scribe; George C. Jackson, treasurer; Alvin A. Krabbe, secretary, and William J. Kumbier and Russell G. Coley, trustees.

The officers will be installed Jan. 14.

Money Makes Welcome Gift

One gift that's always sure to hit the spot is plain old money.

People who get gray hairs worrying over the Christmas gift list would save time and trouble by simply sending a check and letting the recipient decide how to use it.

There are new and imaginative ways to send a gift of money this year. Banks throughout the country now have special - occasion gift checks, available at almost any bank. These may be enclosed with your regular Christmas card or in a seasonal envelope, also supplied by the bank.

Another bright idea is to open a bank account in a friend's name, and send the passbook in a gift envelope. This is especially good for small fry.

For a grown-up you could open a checking account and send a checkbook with his name and address imprinted on each check. Just go to his bank to place the order.

Or, as an off-beat gift, pay a year's rent on a safe deposit box for a friend who is careless about his valuable papers.

Great idea, money. Everybody appreciates it.

Gift Paper May Stain Carpets

Washington, D.C.—Cheaply-dyed party costumes and crepe paper decorations often cause permanent stains on rugs and carpets, the National institute of Rug Cleaning warns.

Every year after the holidays professional rug cleaners get many calls from housewives who have discovered dye stains on their floor coverings, especially when gaily wrapped packages have been placed on the floor around the Christmas tree.

Tomorrow's Too Late

Unfortunately, the next day is usually too late and the stain is found to be indelible. Party papers and cheap cloths are colored with a wide range of dyes, most of which will run badly when wet and will transfer permanently to textiles.

Obviously, the best thing to do is to keep them off rugs and carpets but if staining should occur, immediate first-aid action is necessary.

Mix a teaspoonful of neutral soapless detergent in one-half pint of lukewarm water. Any of the detergents commonly advertised for safe washing of fine fabrics will do.

Blot, Don't Rub

Apply the detergent solution directly to the stain with an eye dropper. A few drops at a time. Blot the stained area with clean white unstarched cloth or cleansing tissue, beginning at the outer edge and working toward the center. Repeat if necessary, remembering to blot rather than to rub.

Finish by absorbing the moisture completely since poor drying may cause a water stain. Place clean unstarched towels or a half-inch thickness of cleaning tissues over the area. Weight the blotting material down so that it remains in constant contact with the dampened area and leave it in place until the spot is completely dry.

Post Office Gives Hints for Sending Christmas Cards

"Let's write some friendly little notes on our Christmas cards this year. They'll help to bring our correspondence up to date and keep friendships in 'good repair'."

Something like this is said in many homes each year at Christmas time. It's a grand idea, too.

Be sure to make your notes really personal. If a Christmas trip is being planned, mention it. If you're giving a holiday party, let your Christmas cards carry the invitations.

Postal regulations, by the way, encourage this idea. Four cent stamps are required when Christmas cards carry chit-chat, which means (1) they will be sorted and delivered first, and (2) they will be forwarded or returned if the addressee has moved. Thus, once your Christmas cards are in the mail, there's no need to worry.

The post office also suggests that you put your Christmas seals on the back of your envelopes. Be sure, too, that your envelopes are neatly addressed — print if you can't write plainly. And don't abbreviate anything in the address except "Mr. and Mrs.". Abbreviations are often the chief source of confusion to perplexed mail carriers. Oh yes, and always carefully plan the actual mailing of your Christmas cards. Don't send them all at once. When they're ready to go, sort them in two groups — those for local and nearby points and those for distant destinations.

Mail your out of town Christmas cards several days before the others. But do mail all of them in plenty of time for the post office to deliver them before Christmas. Early mailing helps to spread the Christmas mail rush, for which the postmaster will always thank you.

Practical Hints
Generally speaking, common sense will answer most questions connected with Christmas card etiquette. But here are some hints, some very practical hints, on what to do when you come face to face with them:
Give your signature all the lift you want to. Sign it "The Merriwethers — Midge and Mitch." If there are children, by all means include them: "The Merriwethers — Mitch

Lutherans Tell Merger Plans

Three Groups Represent Over 3 Million Members

Chicago — Four Lutheran denominations, representing three million members, have announced a tentative merger to become the largest Lutheran church body in the U. S.

A joint commission on Lutheran unity Friday selected the name Lutheran Evangelical church in America for the new body.

Under negotiation since 1956, the merger involves the American Evangelical Lutheran church, the Augustana Evangelical Lutheran church, the United Lutheran Church in America and the Finnish Evangelical Lutheran Church in America.

Appleton Churches
(Five Appleton churches would be affected by the merger. Trinity and Our Saviour's churches are members of the United Lutheran Church in America and Zion, Grace and First English are affiliated with the American Lutheran church.)

The joint commission is scheduled to meet again Feb. 18 to 20 in New York to take final action on the constitution, by-laws, a model constitution for constituent synods and the confession of faith.

Plans call for a constituting convention in June, 1962, with a target date of Jan. 1, 1963, for the new church to begin its corporate existence.

The commission is expected to select either New York or Chicago as site of the new church's headquarters.

More Religious Freedom In Cuba, Ministers Say

New York — Three Protestant ministers report an increase in religious freedom in Cuba since the Caribbean island swapped dictator Batista for revolutionary Castro.

The trio, the Revs. Clair Hutchins of Colonia, N. J.; Herman Sweet of Wallingford, Conn.; and Dr. Frank Stranges of New York, were in Cuba preparing for an evangelism campaign next winter.

"We were actually given a diplomatic reception by the Cuban government," says Hutchins.

Hour Interview
"Hector Sardina Padilla, the chief of protocol, met us at the airport."

"The next day we had an hourlong interview with Dr. Juan Orta, Castro's personal representative. He promised to give us all the help he could in our coming campaign."

"Religious freedom is written into the Cuban constitution," says Hutchins. "But constitutional guarantees are only as strong as the people who administer them."

Machinists Name Krause to Succeed Filz as President

Carlie Krause, 1033 S. Blue-mound drive, has been elected president of Local 747, International Association of Machinists.

He succeeds Merrill Filz, 1506 W. Spencer street, who has withdrawn from the union because of promotion to a supervisory position.

All other officers of the local were reelected. They are Arthur Theiss, vice president; R. A. Stewart, recording secretary; Orville Kurey, treasurer; Harold Noffke, conductor; Franklin Diestler, sentinel; and John Boehm, trustee.

All will serve 1-year terms. On bond after his arrest and was not arraigned until Friday.

Legislators Interested in Green Bay Try

May Meet There to Weigh Effects of New Annexation Law

Madison — Members of a new legislative study committee on urban growth problems Friday expressed interest in Green Bay's attempt to annex the town of Preble under the new annexation law.

Committee discussions indicated the group may hold a meeting in Green Bay later to examine the effect of actual application of the annexation statute.

The committee chose Milwaukee Sen. Zaborski, as chairman, in spite of the fact that the group was explicitly organized to consider urban problems outside the metropolis. There is a separate Milwaukee metropolitan studies commission already at work.

Committee vice chairman is Assemblyman Sussman, also of Milwaukee. Both are Democrats.

The Fox Valley urban district has two legislative representatives on the committee, Assemblyman Quinn, Green Bay, and Sen. Draheim, Neenah, both Republicans.

Ed Johnson of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities summarized the committee's task as to determine whether Wisconsin urban communities can meet their contemporary problems under existing laws and procedures.

The league was the sponsor of the new annexation law, sometimes called the O'Brien law, which permits cities to petition circuit courts to order a referendum in an area designated as suitable for annexation to the parent city.

Youth Finally Comes to Court

Appleton Boy Fined $25 on 2 Counts for Incident in Waupaca

Waupaca — An Appleton youth arrested for disorderly conduct and other charges May 17 at the Cassino was finally arraigned before Justice George Whalen Friday after Sheriff Ray Abrahamson went to Appleton and brought the youth back to Waupaca county.

The youth is Kenneth Hamilton, 21, 1026 W. Eighth street, Appleton. He was charged with four counts. The last two were dropped. They were disorderly conduct, throwing glass into inland waters, battery and resisting arrest. The battery and resisting charges were dropped on a motion by the district attorney.

Hamilton's attorney entered a no contest plea to the first two charges and fines of $25 each were assessed.

Hamilton was arrested for disorderly conduct by James LaSage, Jr., Cassino operator and a deputy sheriff. The complaint — dismissed charged Hamilton with resisting LaSage's arrest and with battery and causing bodily harm to James LaSage, Sr.

The defendant was released on bond after his arrest and was not arraigned until Friday.

Remember at HOFFERS you get the finest in quality and workmanship. Only select Mirror Quality Plate Glass can give you distortion-free reflections.

Low priced mirrors offered in many places are only sheet glass — which is not sensitized to receive long lasting silver nor is the glass distortion-free.

Small Rooms seem larger. Mirrors open up a room and create new vistas. If your room is long and narrow, widen it by using a mirror.

NOTICE to Christmas Decorators Avoid Glass Breakage!!

PLEASE DON'T — for your sake — set lighted Christmas Decorations within 8 inches of Plate Glass or Thermopane picture windows. Even a small light bulb gives off some heat and when directed on a small area of cold glass it causes local expansion which may result in unnecessary, costly breakage.

PLEASE DON'T place Christmas posters, pictures, or cardboard against inside of Thermopane any time of the year where these objects can prevent the sun's rays from passing thru, thereby building up local heat and expansion of glass and possible expensive breakage.

PLEASE DON'T paint Christmas scenes (especially dark colors) on your sun-exposed picture windows. Any opaque materials, such as paint, paper, cardboard, that can obstruct the passing of the sun's heat rays can cause breakage.

PLEASE DON'T forget to raise window shades on Thermopane windows facing east before retiring. When early morning sun strikes cold glass, heat is quickly built up and when drawn shades act as heat retainers your Thermopane may crack. In fact, if your shades are hung too close to the glass, it is better to set them out farther to create a larger air space allowing solar heat to escape at the ends and the top.

Guerin Hits 57 for New Garden Record

Pro 'Little Man' Leads Knicks to Win Over Syracuse

New York — (U) — Richie Guerin, a 6-4 "little man" among the National Basketball association giants, was the proud possessor today of the all-time Madison Square Garden individual scoring record for a professional or college player.

The 27-year-old former Iona (New York) star collected 57 points Friday night in a dazzling display of shooting as the New York Knickerbockers crushed the Syracuse Nationals 152-121.

In another NBA game at Boston, the Celtics turned back the St. Louis Hawks 122-99 in Boston for their eighth straight victory.

21 Free Throws

Garden and Knickerbocker records both teams and individual, were shattered, but it was Guerin who stole the spotlight. Richie hit on 18 of 31 field goal attempts and 21 of 26 free throw tries. His previous high was 41 points against St. Louis.

The Knick ace, equally effective in front and back court, was hampered with a bad back earlier in the season.

Guerin broke Carl Braun's Knick scoring record of 47 points, set 12 years ago. He also eclipsed the Garden pro mark of 50, established by Philadelphia's Neil Johnston in February 1954 and the college standard of 56 two seasons ago by Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati.

Lawrence's Jim Rasmussen (24) gets an argument for the ball from Monmouth's John Reasner, from the back, and receives an elbow in the chest from Ken Mueller (25) from the front in this action during Friday evening's game in the Alexander gym. Clair McRoberts is No. 23. Monmouth won, 69-62.

Merholtz shaded Hoffman Construction, 49-47, to stay in a 3-way tie for the lead. "Chuck" Saddler's 21 paced the victors. Schreiter's knocked off Sherry Motors, 54-49.

Shelved for More Study Big Ten Fails to Resolve Major Problems on TV, Aid, Rose Bowl

Chicago — (U) — The Big Ten winter meetings, which officially ends today, failed to resolve three major problems which the Western conference has been kicking around.

Shelved for further study were items dealing with television, the financial aid plan and the Rose Bowl question.

Faculty representatives will meet today for about two hours but no action or announcements are expected.

Except for minor matters dealing with eligibility of individual athletes and the scheduling of spring sports championships, the only positive action at the meetings resulted in a 10-yard loss for conference athletic directors.

Directors Vote

Faculty representatives voted to refer back for member school consideration a secret Nov. 1 action which would give athletic directors an equal vote with the faculty group on athletic matters.

This gives the faculty representatives the right to review and probably reject the athletic directors' hopes for equal voice.

The highly publicized $3 million television offer for a 3-year showing of Big Ten football, basketball and other conference events was shelved until the NCAA TV committee formulates its 1960 policy.

Also delayed were recommendations for future Rose Bowl controls of possible Big Ten participation in the Pasadena classic after the current contract expires with the Jan. 1 game.

After the Wisconsin-Washington game New Year's day, the Big Ten contract to participate in the bowl ends. However, individual teams may play in the Rose Bowl if invited and the Big Ten desired to regulate proceeds from such games.

No definite action was taken in the controversial financial aid program. A special committee studying the matter was asked to continue its survey.

The committee, headed by Northwestern Athletic Director Stu Holcomb, was expected to demand that the so-called "need" clause be stricken from the program.

Under the plan, athletes receive aid only to the extent of their need with parents supplying the rest of the funds. The Holcomb committee indicated that Big Ten recruiting potential has been reduced by the financial aid plan and potential athletes from the "middle class" group were being lost to outside schools.

The next conference meeting will be held at Ohio State university March 3-5 in connection with the Big Ten indoor track meet.

Manty JVs Win Over Junior Terrors

Manitowoc — The under-manned Appleton High school junior varsity basketball team bowed, 47-21, to Manitowoc here Friday night.

Playing without their erstwhile scoring leader, Mike Lee, for the first time, the Junior Terrors suffered their fifth straight loss. But, unlike the three previous games when they went to the wire before losing by two or three points, the AHS jayvees never were in the game last night.

Lee, who had averaged more than 21 points for the JVs, was promoted to the varsity for Friday's game.

Jack Wendt, who battled well for rebounds, coined 11 of the Junior Terror points to pace both teams in scoring. But, the well-stocked Ship JVs retorted with 14 scorers — players who hit between one and eight points apiece. It was Manty's second straight league win and third in four starts, overall.

Clintonville JVs Defeat Bulldogs

Clintonville — The Clintonville High school "B" team defeat New London's Junior Varsity Friday night, 42-31.

Clintonville led all the way although New London narrowed the gap to six points in the third period. Mike Nelson, Trunkers' guard led scoring with 21 points.

space of about 91 minutes (and not against reserves).

For the fourth time in four games, 5-9 hustler "Chuck" Knocke was the losers' leading scorer, this time with 18 points. His running-mate at guard, Jim Schulze, had by far his best night of the young season with 11.

Sophomore George Gray also hit 11 as did Jim Rasmussen. "Ras", who averaged over 18 per game during his first varsity campaign last year has failed to hit more than 13 tallies in any game this season.

Junior Joe Lamers, who earned a starting job with his play at Coe, tossed in seven points and outbattled the bigger Scots on the boards. He and Rasmussen were credited, unofficially, with 13 rebounds apiece, three more than any of the Scots.

The team field goal and free throw shooting percentages and rebounding totals are remarkably similar.

Shoots .333

Lawrence shot an unofficial .333 from the floor on 24 baskets in 72 attempts to Monmouth's .338 on 26-for-77. The Scot shooting appeared much better because the visitors were hitting often from long-range, outside the Viking zone. Many of the losers' tallies came on quick-break "bunnies."

Lawrence wired 14 of 19 free throw tries (74 per cent) to the winners' 71 per cent on 17-for-24. Unofficially, the hosts had a 43-42 rebounding edge.

Monmouth's top point-producer — with 17 — was 6-3 junior forward John Reasner, who didn't even earn a letter last year. Clair McRoberts (6-5) totaled 16 and 6-4 Ken Mueller counted 12.

Early Lead

Lawrence took an early lead and was ahead at one time, 13-3, beating the Scots down the floor for easy points several times after Viking defensive rebounds. Seven straight Monmouth markers tied the score at 14-all with about 10:30 left in the first half.

Lawrence stayed within four points (29-25) with about 3:45 to go but the visitors counted nine of the first half's last 13 markers for a 38-29 bulge at the intermission.

Reasner zipped home three long-range fielders as the winners built their biggest lead (51-34) with about 14:30 showing. The go-go attack, a batch of free throws (and perhaps a bit of coasting by the winners) helped Lawrence trim it to five points at 59-54 with about five minutes showing.

The visitors then slowed up, play, and Lawrence fouled in a desperate effort to gain possession.

been oiling up his pitching arm.

Bob Skoronski will be ready for duty at offensive left tackle. He missed the Ram game when he cut his forehead in a pre-Ram warmup accident.

Norm Masters went the distance. Skoronski and Masters are about even and the starter is the player with the highest blocking grades from the previous Sunday.

The 49ers couldn't do anything with the alley oop pass in Green Bay because of a strong wind that day. Owens caught a short pass and went for six, anyway.

Y. A. Tittle will start at QB regardless of what happens to the Colts. The 49ers, if they're out of the title shot, still want the second place slice — roughly $500 per man. C. R. Robert a rookie who was cut by the Steelers will open at fullback in place of injured Joe Perry.

Soviet Farmers Do Fair Job With Hogs, but Not Cattle

BY DICK HANSON
Editor, Successful Farming Magazine

New York —(U)— With one exception, Soviet livestock is not on a par with livestock in the United States. The exception is hogs, and here the Russians have done a fairly good job.

I saw all types of livestock on Soviet farms during my recent Russian visit, although in numbers I saw far more dairy cattle and hogs than beef, sheep and poultry.

The two most popular breeds of dairy cattle seem to be the Red Steppe and the Semintol. The Red Steppe looks much like a Red Dane, but is usually much smaller. In production, these animals appeared to be inferior to what you would expect to find Soviet planners hope to put more meat and dairy products on Russian tables. But first they must solve some major problems in livestock management, an American farm expert notes. This is the last of a series on Soviet agriculture.

on the average American dairy farm. They had neither the body capacity nor udder development to be large producers.

The Semintol is a large animal — a mature cow will weigh between 1,500 and 1,700 pounds. Brown and white in color, the Semintol, for all its size, didn't appear to be a high producer.

Doubtful of Claim

The best-looking dairy cattle I saw were of the Semintol breed. However, when the supervisor of the dairy told me the animals averaged 10,000 pounds of milk per year, I found it difficult to believe. They just didn't have the udder development, on the average, for this kind of production.

In hogs, the Soviets impressed me as having done their best job in livestock. Although they like their hogs somewhat fatter than we do, the animals appeared thrifty and well-cared for. A new breed, adopted in 1955, and called the Northern Caucasian, looked especially good. This breed was developed by crossing the large white breed on native stock.

Artificial insemination of hogs is being used in the So-livestock. However, in a country short of food, any animal is better than none at all.

Livestock housing was usually adequate. Most of the dairy barns and hog houses are of brick construction. There are few facilities for mechanized feeding of either hogs or cattle. This chore is done by hand. In several 50-cow dairy barns, six, eight or ten people would be doing the work.

I did not see a single milking parlor. All dairy barns were of the stanchion variety where the milker comes to the cow instead of the cow coming to the milker.

From what I observed, it appears the Russians lag considerably behind the United States in livestock production. They are beginning to improve their breeds apparently, but in my opinion the process has not yet shown tremendous results.

Van Pelt Will Speak At New Parking Ramp Dedication Ceremony

Oshkosh Faculty Constructed
For $557,000; Handles 282 Cars

Oshkosh — Oshkosh will cut the ribbon on its Christmas present to itself — a new $557,000 parking ramp — at 2 p. m. Sunday.

Wielding the scissors will be Rep. William K. Van Pelt, featured speaker for the dedication of the new parking facility, and council Pres. William P. Harford who was instrumental in securing the ramp.

Located on High avenue just west of the downtown district, the ramp will accommodate 282 cars, of which 260 will be on the floors of the structure and 22 at the ground level.

Van Pelt Harford will welcome the guests who will include county board members, state legislators, city officials and mayors of nearby cities. Councilman T. C. Winder, Jr., chairman of the dedication committee, will introduce Van Pelt.

Benches will be arranged on the ramp slope for the spectators. In the event of inclement weather the ceremonies will be held at the Hotel Athearn. A reception for the invited guests will be held at the hotel after the dedication.

Christmas shoppers have been using the ramp for more than a week. Parking meters are installed in the ramp.

Red Cross Blood Bank Donations Usually Come From Same Persons

BY MARION DREW
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Menasha — Although the Neenah - Menasha blood bank usually makes its quota of 268 pints, 98 per cent of the blood is given by regular donors.

Only one of the contributors was a first-time donor during the Thursday and Friday visit of the bloodmobile. Even though quotas are figured according to population, it is the same comparatively small group of people who give over and over again.

Of the eight people interviewed Friday at First Congregational church, all agreed when asked why she was a regular donor said, "there are many reasons why one should give; the real point is, are there any reasons why one shouldn't?"

"It is one of the few things I can do to help in the community," Mrs. Carl R. Geisler, 848 Bayview road, Neenah, remarked, "there are many things for which I am unqualified. It is wonderful to know that none of the blood collected is wasted. It is used as whole blood, as plasma, and of course, as serum."

Ewald Jarvis, 739 London street, has given 10 pints over a period of four years. He makes routine appointments and gives because it is "an important and worthwhile program."

Mrs. John Darrow, 838 S. Commercial street, Neenah, said she began giving when friends who had transfusions at Theda Clark hospital asked her to replace the blood they had been given.

It was for this reason too, that Miss Ida Kieffer, 336 Main street, Neenah, gave the first time. "Now that I know how easy it is, it's becoming habit forming," she explained.

Stanley Hoymann, 307 Caroline street, Neenah, has given nine pints and was reluctant to stop.

tant to give his name because "it is an easy contribution to make and anyone can do it."

Pastor Gives

"Blood is God's gift to us. We are all of one blood in spite of our differences," the Rev. Charles Luhn, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran church pointed out, "it is one way we can communicate part of our spiritual self to others who need it, without harm to oneself." The Rev. Mr. Luhn has contributed six times in two years.

Warren Oskar, 510 Sherry street, Neenah, was "working on" his second gallon and considers it a "routine job."

Miss Maxine Seelig, Red Cross staff nurse, Madison, said the bloodmobile calls at 33 counties in the state, besides Delta and Menominee counties in the Michigan Upper Peninsula.

"Your local chapters do wonderful work in seeing that each visit comes close to its quota."

"You are very responsive here. We can call upon this unit for whole blood for heart surgery done in Madison over and above the blood required by Theda Clark hospital."

'Have Never Refused'

"But it is always the same group we call upon. Their blood type is on record with us and it has to be perfectly matched and given on short notice. They have never refused."

The bloodmobile goes to the boys reformatory at Green Bay and the state prison at Waupun between Christmas and New Year's because "the boys are always there, and then we are sure of blood for holiday emergencies."

These two groups compete with themselves, and try to give a pint or two more each time the unit calls upon them.

Miss Seelig said, "we like to go there. The men are always glad to see us, and one of them told me sometimes, we are the only ones who wish them a Merry Christmas."

The bloodmobile will be at First Presbyterian church in February.

Jays Deal Raider Quint 63-49 Loss

Ritchie Scores 21 Points, Ristau 20; Menashans Take Command in Initial Quarter

Menasha — Menasha's surprising Bluejays dealt an unbeaten team its first setback for the second straight week, this time making Two Rivers a 63-49 victim here Friday night. Last week, the Jays halted Neenah.

The hosts took command in the middle of the first quarter and, although the Raiders threatened mildly in the late stages of the third frame and in the early seconds of the fourth, they were in control the rest of the way.

The Bluejays, who now have a 2-0 Mid-Eastern conference mark and 3-2 for the season, try to make it three in a row when they trek to Kimberly tonight.

Dominate Boards — Menasha had a clear cut domination of the back boards and the defense did a fine job against the Raider sharpshooters. Two Rivers came midway in the first period and into the game with four then hit eight straight points straight wins.

Two Rivers, a small-sized club, depends on strong shooting to carry it through but such wasn't the case here. It only made 19 baskets in 59 attempts and just had eight field goals by halftime. The colder from the free throw stripe, hitting less than 50 per cent on 11 for 23.

Unofficial statistics show the Jays with a 38 per cent mark on 24 by 64 and they had another good night from the free throw line, making 15 of 22.

Leads Scorers — Bill Ritchie, who continues to improve, led all scorers with 21 points, his top effort. Dave Ristau was just a point behind and the two didn't give the Raiders a chance under the boards.

Jim Stenson added eight points and Bill Prange and Jay Drzewicki each canned six, Prange getting all of his in the last period. Bill Gerhard played a good share of the game and, although he didn't score, he did a good job on defense and against the Raider second half press.

Dave Belonger, at 6-3, the only tall boy on the Raider squad, had 13 points to lead his team. Tom Lawrence hit 12.

Jays Never Trail — The Jays never trailed and were tied only twice, at 2-2 against the Raider sharpshooters. Two Rivers came midway in the first period and into the game with four then hit eight straight points straight wins.

The score was 16-8 at the quarter and 28-20 at halftime.

The narrowest second period spread was four points. The Jays saw their lead chopped to three points at 36-33 late in the third period but they hit five straight points and were back in front 41-34 going into the last eight minutes.

The first two goals of the final period by two Rivers again got the difference down to three (41-38) but back zoomed the Jays to claim 13 of the next 16 markers, including another skein of eight straight points with the score 46-41.

Freedom missed just four of 19 free throw tries. Bear Creek led all the way and owned a 35-23 advantage at the half. Tom McCrone whipped in 14 in the first stanza and all 19 of his points in the first half. Dave Larsen paced the losers with 17. Both clubs were hot from the foul line. The Bruins missed only two of 15, the Vikings were off on only five of 19.

Hilbert led only 23-18 at the half but poured it on (21-0) during the third stanza. Clare Ott, who finished with 18 for game honors, led the Wolves during that stanza with nine points. Hilbert pressed most the way but had seven less fouls than the Tigers' 24.

Ron Dorso counted 29 points for losing Omo to top scorers in the Foxes - Winnecoonne title. Ron Heath hit 21 and Dale Johnson for the Wolves who pressed most the way and hit about half of their shots from the floor in a sizzling exhibition.

Johnson Scores — With Hortonville leading, 60-59, and about 20 seconds to go, Johnson dropped home a fielder for the winning points. Ron Engels added a pair of insurance free throws with 18 seconds left.

Johnson finished with 19 points for Shiocton honors. Gary Kohl hit 20 and Ken Huebner 18 for Hortonville. The winners had one less basket but made 13 of 21 free throws to Hortonville's eight of 13.

Freedom led the entire first half, holding a 17-12 and 28-23 advantages at the rests. The Irish then stalled for good shots in the third quarter, but missed, and the bigger Panthers got the rebounds. Reedsville posted an amazing 17-4 point edge in the third stanza for a 40-32 edge going into the final segment.

the road and blew up the first tank. And this destruction of the lead vehicle — but now I quote from the citation bestowed on the 291st — “marked the definite stopping of the enemy advance on axis Bullington - Waimes - Malmédy - Savelot - La Gleize - Soutmout - Chevron - Werbomont, later learned to be the route designed for the First SS Panzer Corps.”

Following the night of Dec. 18, the Allied Command recovered its poise, and from then on we had divisions where before there were only battalions and noncombat ones at that. The roll-back started, and from there on the story is familiar.

Why did the Germans miss their great opportunity? If they had known, even guessed, how little was out in front, no amount of psychology could have stopped them.

One story, more than all the rest, seems to me to illustrate the peculiar deadliness of innocence, even in war. Pvt. Roland Seamon was a tall, husky mountain boy from Shinston, W. Va.; his buddy, Pvt. Albert Darrago, was from Maryland, and all they had done in the war up to now was to shiver in their gun pits and stare up at the empty sky.

Volunteer Heroes

The nights of the 18th and 19th they set up their batteries, and listened to the roar of motors and movement of vehicles going by on the road. In the morning, an infantry lieutenant came over from a square brick house held by Americans and asked for volunteers to knock out a tank with bazookas. Neither Seamon nor Darrago had touched a bazooka, but they said they'd try. Upon reaching the house they were mildly surprised to find it full of infantrymen. Possibly the lieutenant had thought his own were not expendable.

They crawled off across a field, rifle and machine gun fire whistling and zipping all around them, and saw sitting there not one, but four of the finest, fattest tanks they had ever seen.

The two boys scouts held a whispered consultation and decided not to go back for help for what struck me at the time as a nice reason — they were afraid the tanks might get away.

They each picked one of the mediums and fired. There was a satisfying dou-

Singing Group Acquitted of Morals Charge

Cincinnati — (U.P.) — Freed of morals charges here, the Platters, internationally known Negro singing group, are headed for an engagement in Germany.

They said they would open in Berlin Monday.

Although Municipal Judge Gilbert Bettman Thursday acquitted the four singers of charges of aiding and abetting prostitution, lewdness or assignation, he lashed at them for having “broken that law which distinguishes man from animal—the moral law.”

Acquitted with the men were four 19-year-old girls.

The men, night club and recording singers, are Ervin Robi, 26, of El Centro, Calif.; Samuel (Tony) Williams, 31, of Hollywood, Calif.; and David Lynch, Jr., 30, and Herbert A. Reed, 31, both of Los Angeles. The girls are Jarie Davis, Patsy Sue Howard and Virginia Lee Jones, all of Hamilton, Ohio, and Helen Harrison of Cincinnati.

Judge Bettman told the singers that “you men, who through your position, had an opportunity to be an example to your people, have instead brought shame upon them.”

“For these transgressions you will be accountable to that Highest Court before which you must, in the end, stand final judgment,” he said.

With marked lack of enthusiasm but still obedient to orders, they again crawled through the hedge and put two more rockets into the blazing tanks. They then crossed the field for the fourth time under fire, making the return without incident except that Seamon ripped his pants on some barbed wire.

Seamon and Darrago were awarded distinguished service crosses. I have often wondered what the lieutenant got. He ought to have been a full colonel by V-E Day.

Youth Causes Crash; 4-Month Revocation

17-Year-Old Failed To Yield, Three Cars Pile Up on 125

John F. Ably, 17, of 549 N. Mason street, Friday in municipal court admitted he failed to yield the right-of-way and caused a 3-car pileup at Blue-mound drive and Highway 125 Nov. 25 which sent four persons to the hospital.

Judge Oscar J. Schmiede revoked Ably's driver's license for six months, then withheld the last two months of revocation on the condition the youth go to the court's safety school Tuesday night.

Ably's car pulled out on 125 and bumped a westbound car, causing it to veer into the path of an eastbound car in a near-head-on crash. A 4-year-old girl was tossed from one of the cars and received severe road burns.

Missed Dead End

Robert Schoepke, 19, Shiocton, was fined $50 and his driver's license was revoked for 60 days for driving faster than was reasonable. His car left the road and rolled over in a field as he approached the dead end of a town road early Sunday in the town of Bovina. The revocation was withheld on condition Schoepke attends safety school and is not arrested for a moving traffic violation for a year. The conviction will cost him three points against his driving record, the accident three more.

Hubert J. Eick, 22, of 362 River drive, was fined $50 and his driver's license was revoked for 30 days for leaving the scene of an accident this morning at Wisconsin avenue and Kennilworth avenue. Eick admitted hitting a pole and hydrant and leaving the scene without reporting the mishap. The revocation was withheld on the condition he attend safety school. The offense will cost him six points.

License Taken

Lyle F. Green, 17, route 2, Kaukauna, was ordered to pay court costs and his driver's license was revoked for three months for failing to yield the right-of-way and causing an accident at Highway 55 and County Trunk KK Sunday. The last 60 days of the revocation were stayed on condition he attend safety school and is not arrested for a moving traffic violation in the next year.

Edward O. Ulseth, 20, Milwaukee, was fined $20 for ignoring a stop sign and causing an accident Saturday at County Trunks KK and N.,

The offense will cost him three points, the accident three more.

Charged six points and fined $25 for speeding in a school zone was Arnold E. Kelbert, 44, of 158 Plummer avenue, Neenah.

Paul Rieden, 19, of 713 E. Marquette street, was offered a choice between paying a $20 fine or a $10 fine and attending safety school after he admitted driving 45 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone. He selected the smaller fine and school. The offense will cost him six points.

Jailed 2 Days

Earl L. Junion, 44, route 3, Menasha, was fined $50 and sent to jail for two days for driving after his driver's license had been revoked and fined $10 for speeding. His driver's license was revoked for another year, automatic under state law. Junion was arrested Wednesday night by state police at Highway 41 and County Trunk A.

Charged with ignoring stop signs were Roy G. Brownell, 18, of 1513 Lawe street, Kaukauna, dismissed upon payment of $2.95 court costs and safety school attendance, and Roy Weyenberg, 17, route 4, Appleton, 30-day driver's license revocation and costs waived if the youths attend safety school.

Wallace W. Barr, 31, of 800 W. Taylor street, was charged four points and forfeited

Electricity Cost Low in Appleton

Power Commission Report Shows Most Cities Pay More

Appleton, on the average, pays considerably less per month for electricity than other cities across the nation, according to a report by the Federal Power commission.

Use of electricity has increased 40 per cent in the last five years in Appleton, the report says. These facts come from a survey on typical electric bills in effect in some 4,772 cities across the country, from the Edison Electric institute and from other sources. The figures are for the beginning of this year.

Increased Demand

In Appleton, states the commission, the average monthly bill for 100 kilowatt hours of electricity, which is the amount generally used for lighting, small appliances and refrigeration, was $3.78. This compares with an average of $3.98 throughout the United States.

In the 250 kilowatt hours-a-month category, a more usual amount of consumption, the typical monthly bill locally was $6.80. Nationally, the average cost for this quantity was $7.36.

For 500 kilowatt hours a month, which covers lighting, refrigeration, cooking, water heating and small appliances, the typical bill locally was $9.70 a month, as against $10.51 in the country as a whole.

At the present time, reports the Edison institute, electricity is available to over 98 per cent of the occupied homes in the country, urban and rural.

The rise in the amount of current consumed in the home, as more and more gadgets and conveniences come into use has been impressive.

In the region embracing Appleton, the rate of use has risen 40 per cent in a period of five years, going from 2,609 kilowatt hours a year to about 4,000.

Final Test Monday

Dedication, Opening Of High Bridge Set

The College avenue high level bridge probably will be dedicated and opened to traffic Friday afternoon.

The date is somewhat questionable because it hinges on the results of a structural test to be made Monday.

District Highway Engineer L. W. Empey explained it this way Friday to Mayor Mitchell and Director of Public Works Duszynski:

There is little chance the results of the Monday test will prevent the Friday dedication and opening, but a possibility exists.

Mayor Making Plans
The test will be of a capsule of concrete which was placed in the bridge deck when the last concrete was poured.

The test will determine the compressive strength of the concrete after a 34-day "curing" period.

Mayor Mitchell is going ahead with plans for a dedication program that will include state, county and city officials, a ribbon-cutting and a cavalcade of cars across the new 1,386-foot-long, $1 million span.

One Deer in Five Killed Illegally, Game Men Assert

Limiting Number of Shells in Gun Suggested as Possible Solution

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison, — Careless, ignorant or greedy deer hunters are wastefully killing at least one illegal deer each year to four taken legally, in the opinion of the state game management division.

The problem of illegal deer kills came up at a meeting of the state conservation commission as members speculated about changes in the rules that may be adopted to avoid the waste involved.

Chairman Arthur MacArthur expressed disbelief when Game Supt. J. R. Smith offered the 20 per cent illegal kill estimate, but the department officer stuck to his view. If there is anything wrong about his guess, it is on the conservative side, he said. Based upon a recorded legal kill of about 105,000 animals during the season just concluded, Smith's calculation would put the illegal kill at 20,000 at least.

Register Over 3,000 Deer At Waupaca

Does Outnumber Bucks, Official Figures Show

Waupaca — Does outnumbered bucks in the 3,400 total deer registered during the shotgun season in Waupaca county, according to Harold Stienke, Oshkosh game management division.

Figures show 1,496 bucks and 1,904 does registered throughout the county. Stienke points out that the total figure does not represent the county kill because figures include deer shot in adjoining counties and registered here.

The actual county kill last year was about 2,000 deer, equally divided between bucks and fawns. Last year was a shotgun and party permits season.

Figures from individual registration stations for bucks first, then does registered under the party system, are: Fremont, 110; 137; Weyauwega, 108, 120; Waupaca, 286, 427; Iowa, 107, 146; Glen Meyer, town of Wyoming, 91, 100; Marion, 137, 140; Embarras, 70, 102; Clintonville, 208, 250; New London, 234, 304, and Manawa, 141, 155.

State Starts to Register Boats After Jan. 1

Madison —(P)— The conservation department will start registering motorboats and sailboats in Wisconsin Jan. 1. George Hadlund, chief enforcement officer for the department, has told the conservation commission.

Hadlund said it was estimated there are 200,000 boats of this type in the state. Registration will cost $3 for a 3-year period.

He said the law will be enforced by regular wardens, 10 extra men and local water patrols. Cost of enforcement will come from registration fees.

Area Residents Bring Back Deer From North

Among the area hunters who bagged deer during this year's shooting was Bob Conrad, 16, son of William A. Conrad, Freedom. He hunted with his father, who got a buck, and his brother, Don, in the Fence area north of Highway 8.

Hunting in the Wabeno area, Fred Kastan, Lake Shore drive, his son Marvin, and Phillip Brown, Neenah, all bagged bucks.

301 Deer Registered In Calumet County

Chilton — A record total of 301 deer were registered in Calumet county as a result of the 1959 shotgun season. The figure surpasses the previous high of 238 recorded last year by 63.

Schaub's Service station, Chilton, reported 122 deer; Pethan's Mobil station, Hilbert, 102; Mike's Friendly service, New Holstein, 52. Wardens registered 35.

Select New Design for Duck Stamp ing showing a drake, a hen and four ducklings swimming among reeds, the Interior Department has announced. No cash prize is given in the competition.

The 1960-61 stamp will be the twenty-seventh in the federal duck stamp series. It will sell for three dollars. Effective next July 1 all net receipts from sale of the duck stamps by the post office department will be used to acquire suitable areas for migratory bird refuges.

Drunken Ducks Easy Prey; Wardens Nab 'Dispenser'

Minneapolis —(P)— The ducks tipsy on whisky-soaked corn, slipped and skidded on the ice and fell easy prey to the hunting dog.

That, game wardens said, was the way a number of tardy migrating mallards were snared from the ice of Lake Calhoun, a Minneapolis lake.

Corn soaked in whisky was tossed onto the ice where the ducks have been congregating. When the birds become too drunk to realize their predicament, a dog was sent out to retrieve them.

Game Warden Ernie Boyd

said Philip Ralph Turnbull, 20, Minneapolis, has a date with a justice of the peace because of the novel game-bagging idea.

Boyd said six ducks were found sobering up on Turnbull's back porch and that 26 more ducks were in a home freezer.

State game enforcement officials said no formal charge was placed against Turnbull immediately, frequently the custom in game law violation cases. Turnbull, however, was ordered to report before a justice when complaints will be drawn.

Quick Okay Seen For 2 Appointees

Paul Olson, John Lynch Head for Conservation Commission Seats

Madison — Quick and routine approval of the first Democratic appointees to the state conservation commission in many years was apparently forecast here when a Republican-controlled state senate committee held a cordial hearing on the qualifications of two men chosen by Gov. Gaylord Nelson to replace incumbent Republicans whose terms have expired.

Unlike other years when critics sometimes turned up to oppose gubernatorial choices, Paul Olson of Madison and John R. Lynch of Gordon found no recorded opposition to their confirmation.

Members of the state senate committee on conservation, headed by Republican Sen. Clifford Krueger of Merrill, were friendly and polite. Krueger explained that he had asked Olson and Lynch to appear to "get acquainted" and said they should not put a political interpretation upon the summons to the hearing.

Requires Division
The Nelson choices will replace L. J. Seyberth of Eau Claire and A. W. Schorger of Madison when they are confirmed by the senate. The law requires the six member committee to be divided between upper and southern Wisconsin residents.

The hearing took on a bipartisan tone when W. J. P. Aberg, a Madison Republican and long-time member of the commission under past Republican regimes, appeared to praise Olson and Lynch as "dedicated conservationists and modest men who won't

New Sturgeon Tags Available at Chilton

Also available are the special sturgeon licenses required for the first time during the coming sturgeon season. The fee is $2.50.

Report Raise In Commercial Fish Harvest

But Poundage of Less Desirable Species Also Up

Aggregate commercial fish harvests from Lake Michigan including Green Bay are on the rise, the conservation department said today, but the species composition of the catch is changing significantly.

Whitefish poundage taken is now negligible against earlier times, the department said, and so few trout are being taken that the trout harvest has not been counted for several years.

The gross harvest figures are being maintained because of an increase in other and less desirable species and especially the alewife which has prospered in the last several seasons.

The alewife entered the fishery in statistically significant numbers in 1957, when fishermen took about 300,000 pounds. Last year nearly a million pounds were taken and there are signs that the increased harvest will continue.

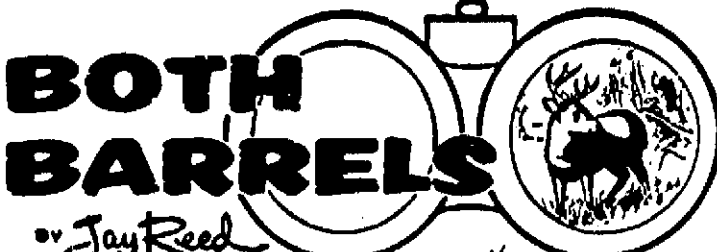

Weak Market
Because there is a relatively weak market for the species, it may actually become a nuisance in the commercial fishery.

The conservation department annual fishery division report observed:

"The alewife is becoming a problem fish at certain times of the year, and especially in late winter when chub fishermen have to pick four pounds of alewives to one pound of chubs from their gill nets."

Whitefish and lake trout yields continue to decline in Lake Superior also, the report disclosed.

In 1958 commercial fish harvesting in Lake Michigan amounted to 14,837,000 pounds, for a value of $1,795,000, and in Lake Superior to 3,787,000 pounds worth an estimated $474,000.

Nearly-complete figures on the 1959 deer kill indicate Wisconsin hunters had all the best of it this year. The total harvest, probably, will be in the area of 105,000 bucks and does.

This is not too surprising, actually, since all early indications pointed to heavy hunting pressure and a correspondingly heavy kill. Conservation department game managers say the November hunt accomplished what it had been intended to do — produce extensive harvest in areas which needed it.

Whether or not this cropping will affect next year's hunting to any great extent probably will not be known for certain until next year. Maybe not even until hunters go into the woods next November. They'll have deer counts this winter in the yards up north and there will be other observation counts through the year. But, in the end, it will be how many deer hunters see at shooting time that counts.

Statewide removal of the bag limit on panfish and a doubled possession limit are the major changes in 1960 fishing regulations. Expiration date for current licenses is Dec. 31, 1959, so if you operate with a normal license you'd better get a new one before you do any ice fishing after the first of the year. If you have a sportsman's license, of course, you have no problem for the moment.

The conservation department, still hopeful of averting a return to the predator bounty system, points out in a recent release that increased use of long haired furs for trim on women's garments is expected to boost the price of fine fox pelts to around $3 this year.

Other fur prices, I've found in discussions with professional trappers in the western part of the state, are about the same as last year. Good muskrats will bring from 80 cents to one dollar. Mink, the top money-maker for trappers, bring $15 to $20.

One of the odd things that happen to deer hunters was reported this week by Cliff London, 2816 E. Wisconsin avenue. London dropped his buck while hunting in the Silver Cliff area of northeastern Wisconsin.

When he skinned out the deer this week he found a 6-inch portion of an arrow embedded in the deer's back—the result of an off hit by some bowman.

Battle of Bulge Won by Engineers

BY HELENA H. SMITH

Few of the Americans in Paris at Christmas time, 1944, were at all alarmed over the sudden German breakthrough. The French, who are pessimists from experience, were scared and thought the Boches were coming back, but Americans are never pessimistic and they never seem to have had any experience.

None of us knew then that less than a week earlier the Germans had been out in the open with practically nothing between them and Liege, which was the nerve center of the whole western defense at that point. As it turned out after the war, the real objective was not Liege but the River Meuse and the great cities of Antwerp and Brussels. Whatever the final objective, however, the Germans had a clear field before them.

Stopped by Boys

What stopped them was nothing but a few handfuls of boys in soldier suits who had never up to that time fired a shot at the enemy. They were engineers, anti-aircraft, and things of that sort, and there were squads and platoons where there should have been divisions and corps. They had been working sawmills and building roads early on Dec. 17, when they were ordered to drop what they were doing and go out and stop the German Army. They had had no training since basic. Of course they had no tanks, no artillery, no mortars. They had hardly anything except mines and bazookas, and what Colonel Pergrin called psychology.

Behind the story of the Battle of the Bulge, 15 years ago next week, there's another story. It's about a bunch of boys who were in the wrong place at the wrong time and wound up with medals. This account of their unintentional heroism was written by a woman who talked with them while a war correspondent.

Lt. Col. David E. Pergrin commanded the 291st Engineer battalion, which later received a unit citation "for action in and around Malmédy, Dec. 17-26, 1944." He was round-faced and wore glasses and looked like a youthful assistant professor. He said a company and a half of the 291st had been running its sawmill near Malmédy the morning of the 17th, when a lieutenant who had been up the road brought back word that the Germans had broken through the 99th division at Butgenbach.

Lonely Defense

Col. Pergrin ordered his men out to the east edge of town, where they tied little yellow packages of dynamite around some tree trunks which they felled across the road and set out some mines. This was known as a road block. With the road block in order, they looked over a hill and counted 68 enemy vehicles coming toward them, 30 of them tanks.

That was when everything in Malmédy started leaving — hospitals, ordnance units, all the rear-echelon odds and ends — in what would never be described as a panic-stricken flight because our side was engaged in it. At noontime the 7th Armored division showed up and the 291st felt much rosier, but the tank commander said: "Sorry, we're ordered to St. Vith." There was a replacement depot with 500 men in Malmédy, and Col. Pergrin tried to borrow some of them to put on his road blocks, but they too had business elsewhere.

The 291st stuck in Malmédy eight days, and, as it turned out, nothing much happened except that they were bombed three days in succession by the American Air Force. The main panzer force bypassed Malmédy, having evidently concluded that the place was strongly defended. After a couple of days it was. The 30th division took over, and its CO greeted Pergrin with: "What! Do you mean to say you've been sitting here with only 185 men? Why the hell didn't you beat it?"

It Was Psychology!

Col. Pergrin guessed it was psychology. It seemed that combat outfits moving up the road to the front had a habit of yelling at the road-builders: "You engineer son-of-a-bitch! Why don't you come on up there and fight?"

All through the first two days of the battle this Malmédy pattern kept repeating itself along the route of both panzer columns. The seemingly timid behavior of the panzers was due to their orders, which were to bypass opposition wherever encountered and keep on going, going toward the Meuse. But there was always opposition or the seeming of it. There were people like a lieutenant who had five trucks; and all one night he ran them up a hill with the lights showing and downhill again blacked out, so that they looked like a big convoy moving up. And it was thanks to the 158th Engineer battalion that there ever was a siege of Bastogne and that Gen. McAuliffe had a chance to say "Nuts!"

Set Up Roadblock

The southern prong of the panzers was approaching Bastogne on the morning of the 17th, when the 101st Airborne Infantry, which made that city immortal and vice versa, was still far away at a rest camp. Lt. Col. Sam

The German Panzers were rolling swiftly through Belgium, headed for Antwerp and Brussels. But, quite unexpectedly, something got in their way. The roadblock consisted of a bunch of kids who had constructed some crude booby-traps, and taught themselves in a hurry how to fire a bazooka. These were the road builders and the engineers, who had never planned on being combat soldiers. But they blew the tanks to bits, and their very greenness made them heroes.

Tabets, with B company of the 158th Engineers, was ordered to chop down trees and lay mines and keep those tanks out of Bastogne until someone of importance could get there.

On the night of Dec. 18, the company was sitting on top of a road block, peering tensely into the dark, when the first German tank came rumbling and clanking along. It encountered Pvt. Bernard Michin, of Providence, R. I., standing like a stone wall with a bazooka, a weapon which he had never fired in his life. No more had the rest of them. The World War II bazooka, which looked like a sawed-off length of stovepipe and shot a weird projectile like a miniature V-2, was supposed to be good against tanks up to 150 yards, but Michin waited until his tank was only 10 yards away before he fired. He wasn't trying to be a hero; he simply didn't want to hit an American tank by mistake.

Wipes Out Tank

Michin had forgotten to put on the dark glasses which were supposed to protect the bazooka-man's eyes from the flash, and the tremendous explosion which finished the tank also seared his eyes so that he rolled into the ditch, temporarily blinded. It was eight hours before he regained his sight.

He couldn't remember how long he had lain in the ditch in great pain. But German infantry were riding in with tanks, and after a while a German machine gun was firing toward him.

"I got kinda nervous," he said. So he threw a hand grenade, guided only by the sound, and knocked out the machine gun and killed most of the crew.

What worried all these green soldiers the most was the danger of killing another American, a danger much more solid and awful to them than death at the hands of the Germans. The fighting those first few days of the Bulge battle was total confusion, what with fog and early darkness, no communications, Germans infiltrating everywhere and nobody knowing where his own or anybody else's lines were. All this was rather prettily described in the SHAEF communiqués as "a fluid situation."

Wanted to Go on

The panzer column to the south was to have occupied Bastogne, and then to have moved on up to the main highway, to a junction with the northern column and so on to the Meuse. But because of multiplied incidents like the nervousness of Pvt. Michin, it bent around Bastogne when it could have rolled on in. On the 19th the 101st Airborne arrived to take up the defense of Bastogne which made history, and Lt. Col. Sam Tabets' 150 boys on the road block were relieved by some 1,700 men. The boys were not pleased about it. They wanted to go on stalking tanks with bazookas.

The Germans wanted certain broad highways, but these little units delayed them just enough. Their southern column hesitated at Bastogne. Their main northern column never reached the highway. It came to grief because of three privates and a neck-lace mine.

On the night of Dec. 18, part of the column again fell afoul of the 291st Engineer battalion, which was manning another road block commanding the crucial highway. Pfc. John Rondenell and two companions were out in front of it with a neck-lace mine, a chain of five or six mines fastened together.

When they heard tanks coming, Pfc. Rondenell pulled his string of mines across
